COX WINS

DEMOCRATS ALSO CHOOSE OHIO MAN FOR PRESIDENT

THE THREE-TIMES GOVERNOR OF BUCKEYE STATE WINS COVETED HONOR ON FORTY-FOURTH BALLOT

CONVENTION ADJOURNS TILL NOON

SAN FRANCISCO July 7, 1:52 a. m. (1:52 a. m. eastern time) —Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was nominated on the 44th ballot as the Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

Cox was nominated on the 11th ballot by acclamation with the roll call complete except one state. When the question was put a chorus of "ayes" that almost raised the roof arose from the delegates.

The clerk was about to call the roll of Missouri, at whose hands a nomination would have been made, when Samuel Amiden of Kansas, a McAdoo leader, jumped to the stage and moved a suspension of the rules and a nomination by acclamation. Immediately bedlam broke loose and a wild war dance of relief was executed to the discordant notes of two blaring bands.

The convention adjourned until 3 p. m. (our time) today when it will select a running mate for Governor Cox.

After the twenty-eighth ballot Delegate Anderson of Georgia moved that the low candidate be dropped on each ballot and by a process of elimination select a nominee. Chairman Robinson ruled the motion out of order.

The Indiana delegation caucused before the twenty-ninth ballot and announced that on the next ballot it would swing to McAdoo. Tom Taggert made the announcement. Georgia then announced it would follow Indiana' lead. Thus, the first break in the Cox alignment looked like the beginning of a McAdoo landslide.

Thomas J. Spellacy of Connecticut, won a $500 bet from Cox's manager on a wager that Cox would not win within a half hour this afternoon. The bet was $500 to $100. Spellacy immediately turned the money over to Chairman Robinson as a contribution to the national campaign fund.

After the 30th ballot the chair recogized another delegate who moved for a suspension of the rules and offered a resolution similar to the Anderson resolution. The motion was lost.

Georgia got cold feet on their promise to Indiana and on the 31st ballot failed to swing to McAdoo. After a caucus they decided to stick to Palmer.

Palmer surged rapidly to the fore until the 36th ballot on which Tennessee gave him their delegation. A recess was then taken until 6 o'clock, western time after which it was generally believed an agreement could be reached. Tennessee, however, repented and described Mr. Palmer on the 37th sending the hopes of the Pennsylvanian glimmering.

After the 38th ballot A. Mitchell Palmer released his delegates and the convention took a twenty minute recess. At 12:45 o'clock, C. C. Carlin the Palmer manager, stepped to the rostrum and made the announcement for Palmer. The Pennsylvania and Georgia delegations were the centers of interest. Crowds swarmed to both sections and McAdoo and Cox managers got busy with the released delegates. Palmer, thru Carlin expressed his gratitude to his loyal supporters and said he was unwilling to delay longer the selection of a nominee. He said he felt that those who were pledged to him should have an opportunity to vote for the winner and that all were unconditional ly released.

The 39th ballot upset all the dope. It was expected that the most of the Palmer vote would immediately switch to McAdoo but Cox gained 85 to McAdoo's 35, although Pennsylvania continued to stick to Palmer. Another feature of this ballot was an increase of 21½ in the Davis vote. Davis again loomed as a dark horse.

On the 40th ballot Cox again led McAdoo by 23 while Davis again gained. Pennsylvania voted Cox 12, McAdoo 42, Palmer 18 and Davis 3. Davis drew his strength as follows: Ill., 11; Ky., 11; N. H., 1; Pa., 3; R. I., 1; Tenn., 24, and W. Va., 16.

Georgia broke for Cox on the 42nd ballot. It was the big-

JAMES M. COX

Not unlike many another boy who attained prominence in later life James McCallen Cox, Governor of Ohio, was born on a farm near Jacksonburg, O., March 31, 1870. He attended the district schools of the neighborhood became a printer's devil, printer, school teacher, newspaper reporter, private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager, editor and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three terms and governor of the state of Ohio for three terms.

In the eyes of his friends this record is an outstanding reason for his candidacy for president in the coming campaign and it is added by his friends from the Buckeye state that just not only the eminent of those of his own political faith—the Democratic party—but by many men of all other political faiths.

The early trend of Ohio toward progressive thought in government and the enlivening of activity along these lines brought to the front in congressional politics James M. Cox who espoused these principles from his first appearance in public life.

The same application which made Mr. Cox a successful business man by his own efforts and from which he derived a good sized fortune, made him a congressman, regarded as exceptionally efficient, and governor of a nominally Republican state.

He first became a candidate for governor as the leader of the progressive movement which demanded change in the state constitution.

As a proponent of these changes he took the field in behalf of the proposed amendments and was called by the Democratic party into its councils and made its candidate for governor. Successful in the following election he continued the work he had mapped out in his original campaign and obtained the passage and enactment of laws which placed the constitution in its new form in full effect.

However, before all of the changes in contemplation could be assimilated a political contest developed and in the turmoil of the following election Governor Cox was defeated for re-election.

Undismayed by this sudden shock to his political ambitions the former governor braved the storm and again became a candidate in the next gubernatorial race. In this election he was successful and served the state as its leader in the numerous activities during the war.

Again in the face of a political re-

C. C. A. A. Wins First And Loses Second

Clearfield Fans Treated To Bang Up Exhibition At Ball Park On Independence Day

DU BOIS TEAM HEAVY SLUGGERS

The C. C. A. A. ball club landed another game yesterday morning when they downed the crack DuBois Athletics in the first game of a double-header by the close score of 6 to 5. The game was played in the presence of some eight hundred fans and furnished excitement enough to satisfy everybody. A little bit of every old kind of baseball was sandwiched into the nine innings. There were lots of star plays and some that made the fans see stars. These slips were about evenly divided but as the home team won all is forgiven on our side.

"Skum" Anderson pitched for the visitors and the locals interpreted his benders for a total of thirteen healthy swats, although two of the hits were declined to be flukey. Skum also gave two bases on balls and succeeded in farming but four men.

Hughey Conklin, Clearfield's main standby in the box, for more years than he cares to have us tell about, twirled for Clearfield and pitched unbeatable ball. Had his team mates played their usual game behind him, the visitors would never have put a single runner over the pan. Hughey pitched a much better game than the score shows and certainly deserved to win. He held the heavy hitting visitors to four hits and fanned four men.

McNichol again starred at second, while old reliable McDonald, the best catcher to show on the local field this season, again led the team with the stick, he garnering three healthy bingles. Bowes also laced out three singles.

Billy Fauver came across with the lucky bingle which scored the first two runs of the game and later added a second hit to his total.

Alexander made the feature play of the game in the ninth when, with the tying run nearing the plate, he ran across into left centre and pulled down a near home run and doubled a runner at first for the third out, ending the game.

CLEARFIELDERS IN QUAKE ZONE

We are in receipt of a Los Angeles newspaper containing an account of the recent earthquake which shook up Los Angeles and the surrounding country. The paper was sent by Fred J. Barrett, a former Clearfielder, who is now located at Inglewood, a suburb of Los Angeles. It was Mr. and Mrs. Barrett's first experience with a California earthquake and they said they wished themselves back hom in rock-ribbed old Pennsylvania while the shake was going on.

The Afternoon Game

Our baseball warrieors either cannot stand prosperity or they are too tender hearted to take both games from a visiting team on the same day. At least they failed to cop this afternoon's game by a pronounced majority and while we don't begrudge this one game to DuBois, because "Skum" Anderson deserved to win, but the way our own kicked and tossed the ball around before the biggest crowd of the season would make the tamest of wild cats wild. Hence our yeowl.

Our old friend Skum is some pitcher and it makes him awful mad to beat him in the first game of a double header, especially when we're celebrating the Fourth of July. After viewing the morning's game from every angle "Skum" said he could beat that gang in the afternoon and he did. He pitched airtight ball after the second inning. He let our erstwhile sluggers down with ten singles but scattered them through the nine innings with a very cunning hand. His team mates gave him giltedge support with the exception of a couple of foozles at short, neither of which figured in the run making.

Bowes was thepitching selection for Clearfield. It was his first game and he was very wild. In addition thereto the boys from the third rate city had their bats working and garnered ten solid hits, two of which were doubles. In addition to several grievous errors of omission our pets fell down no less than six different times, generally on the easiest kind of chances.

Alexander was the lone star for Clearfield, while Fauver handled some hard ones at the third corner, even tho one did refuse to halt at his command. "Alex" and Bowes each got two of our six hits.

Of course you can't expect to win them all, and DuBois deserved to win.

BRYAN'S VIEW OF PLATFORM

It was not to be supposed that the Democratic platform would please everybody. Most assuredly it would not be expected to be taken by the Republicans as the hope of the nation. But it was to be supposed that it would create more favorable comment among Democrats.

William Jennings Bryan stands out as a master creator of public opinion. His judgment is not infallible but as a rule the people in general come around to his views in the end. To Bryan the platform is evasive and he goes to some length to show its weakness. He says:

"The platform adopted by the Democratic convention now before the country is the most partial subject for discussion. It is well written, covers many subjects and is, except on a few troubly controverted points quite as good as could be expected.

The writing of a platform is not an easy task. Straightforward statements for the party are always difficult to make on subjects that divide those within the party. The only easy thing to write is an denunciation of the opposition.

We have heard a great deal of the crusaders and the very name fires the heart and quickens the pulse. If those who control this convention are to be taken as the leaders of the party Democrats will not be considered crusaders in this campaign, they are more likely to be branded as evaders. It may be worth while to note a few illustrations of the spirit of evasion that manifested itself.

First, the platform evades the liquor question. One hundred and fifty five and one-half votes were cast for my resolution declaring positively in favor of the amendment and the enforcement law and opposing any increase in the alcoholic content or other weakening of the law. There were 348 votes for Mr. Cochran's amendment in favor of light wines and beer. If the dry votes are added to the wet and then the total subtracted from the total vote cast and against the wet plank (the total vote on the wet proposition was 1082½, whereas the vote cast on the dry proposition was only 194) we find that 541 delegates voted against both planks.

'Evaders' in Majority

That is the evaders outnumbered those who voted either for the dry plank or wet plank. No matter what the reason was most of the delegates to the convention refused to commit the party to either side of the liquor question.

A few of the delegates have been wet but nearly all of them were from dry territory. It is easy to understand why the wet would vote against the dry plank. But the average man and woman will have difficulty in understanding the attitude of those who allow themselves to be classed as opponents of prohibition were attended to express satisfaction in the Democratic party leading part in the business of national prohibition. In 1868 1872 and 1876 the Democratic party went into its platform planks declaring it acceptance of the fifteenth amendment. It took three campaigns to assure the country that slavery was dead and that the Democratic party was opposed to reviving it, and yet there is not a state in the Union urging a reopening of the question. We nominated a New York Democrat to run in each of the years mentioned. This year we have 356 delegates—almost one-third of the convention—clamoring for a reopening of the question and yet the evaders try to excuse themselves by saying that the question is dead, and even denounce the drys for wanting to mention the subject in the platform.

The convention evaded the profiteering question also. As there was no roll call on my profiteering plank I have no way of knowing the exact number of evaders on this subject. As the readers of these articles have before them both the platform plank and my plank on this subject, they can if they like, make comparison. To make the comparison more intelligently it will be well to first compare the Democratic plank on profiteering with the Republican plank. While not identical, the same tone runs thru both. There is no attempt to indict the profiteers in terms that fit this crime. My plank points out specific remedies so that officials elected on such a platform would be bound to something specific.

No Specific Profiteering Curb

The men in control made no effort to take a single specific remedy mentioned in my plank, and add it to theirs. They had full charge of the subcommittee and the full committee and they had a large majority of the full convention and they used it to force thru a plank on profiteering which will not be satisfactory to the general public, because it offers no real hope of relief.

The evaders also dodged the question of universal compulsory military training. They contended that it was not an issue but the real reason, frankly stated in the committee, was by the secretary of war had recommended a system of universal compulsory military training. A plank opposing such a system might seem like a rebuke to the president although the president asked the Democrats in the house of representatives to leave the subject for the national convention to deal with.

It will be remembered that the country was not consulted on the subject. Notwithstanding the fact that the nation seemed not to want the president asked

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Model T One Ton Truck is in reality a necessity to the wide-awake retail grocer not only for the economic solution of the delivery problem but for the bringing of goods from the docks or stations to his place of business, and for traversing the country and bringing in produce. For years the Ford One Ton Truck with its splendid manganese bronze worm-drive powerful Ford Model T Motor, strong Vanadium steel frame has been serving in every line of business activity, and we have yet to hear the first complaint as to rear axle trouble or motor trouble. It has the lowest purchase price on the market and the cost for operating and maintaining is exceedingly small. In fact the Ford One Ton Truck has been a business necessity. Place your order with any of the Authorized Ford Dealers listed below who will give you prompt attention and as soon as possible prompt delivery, and give you an after service that will keep the cost of operation of the Truck.

Last Big Block of the Canadian Pacific
Reserved Farm Lands

THIS announces the offering of the last big block of the Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands. Until this block is disposed of, you can secure at low cost a farm home in Western Canada that will make you rich and independent. The country is ideal for mixed farming as well as grain growing. Later, the same lands can be bought only from private owners—and naturally, prices will be higher. Never again on the North American Continent will farm lands be offered at prices so low.

Your Last Big Opportunity

This block contains both fertile open prairie and park lands in the Lloydminster and Battleford Districts of Central Alberta and Saskatchewan. You can buy farm lands on the rich prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at prices averaging about $18 an acre. Or land in Southern Alberta under an irrigation system of unfailing water from $50 an acre and up.

20 Years to Earn and to Pay

The Canadian Pacific offers you this land under a plan of long term, easy payments that is remarkable in the history of farm investments. You pay down 10%. Then you have no payment on the principal until the end of the fourth year, then fifteen annual payments. Interest is 6%. In Central Saskatchewan, Seager Wheeler grew the world's prize wheat. World's prize oats were grown at Lloydminster.

Lands Under Irrigation

In Southern Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway has developed the largest individual irrigation undertaking on the American Continent. This district contains some of the best lands in Canada. An unfailing supply of water is administered under the Canadian Government. Prices range from $20 an acre up, on the same easy payment terms. $2000 loan in improvements. 4 twenty years to pay back.

No Taxes on Improvements

There's a small tax on the land—seldom more than 20c an acre for all purposes but there are no taxes on your live stock, buildings, improvements, implements or personal effects. Good markets, modern schools, roads, churches, amusements, make farm life desirable and attractive. Here you can achieve independence.

No Sale Without Investigation

The Canadian Pacific will not sell you a farm until you have inspected it. You must be satisfied—and every question answered before taking up your home. Investigation is invited and made easy. This announcement calls attention to the last great block of Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands.

versal of opinion which sent a tidal wave across the state, Governor Cox was elected for a third term by an overwhelming majority when every candidate on the Democratic ticket was defeated. In this connection it may also be further stated that no other governor has served three terms in the state of Ohio save Rutherford B. Hayes who left his third term as governor to become President of the United States. During the turmoil preceding the war when industrial unrest was so prevalent in states where large manufacturing interests were centered, Governor Cox displayed his ability as a leader of his constituency in meeting the situation. This same leadership was carried on during the period of the war and has since come through the reconstruction, with all its attendant disorders, with domestic peace and without at any time resorting to force.

James Middleton Cox started his active career as a school teacher in District No. 1 in Wayne Township, Butler County where he had earlier attended school. His evenings were spent in the printing offices of the local publications and a few years later he was accepted as a reporter on the staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer. The next ten years were devoted to active newspaper work in almost every capacity of that newspaper.

He is next heard of as private secretary to Congressman Paul Sorg of the Third Ohio district and at the close of his service in Washington he purchased the Dayton, Ohio, Daily News, borrowing most of the money with which to carry on the business of the paper which at the time had a very small circulation.

Mr. Cox put all his energies into making the publication a successful business venture and so well did he carry out his plans that he was soon owner also of the Springfield Daily News which today stands as one of the newspaper successes of the country.

In 1908 he was nominated and elected to congress from the Third Ohio district and was re-elected for a second and third term.

In public life, Governor Cox was always regarded as a progressive and many of the laws now on the statute books of his home state which bear his progressive friend were sponsored by him both as congressman and governor.

Among these laws for which the governor assumes responsibility are: A model workman's compensation act; a child labor law that has been copied by several other states; a mother's pension system; the initiative and referendum; a scientific budget; a prison farm providing healthy occupation for convicts; elimination of sweatshops; a Blue Sky law to protect Ohio investors; consolidation of useless bureaus; time limit on storage of food products and to check profiteering; extension of the good roads system by main market and inter-county roads.

School men in Ohio are quoted as saying that the Ohio school code of today will live as an everlasting monument to the achievements of Governor Cox.

Governor Cox recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born and is transforming it into a modern farm where he expects to spend his later days. He has a comfortable, modern suburban home at Dayton which he designed and where he resides when not in the state capitol attending to his official duties.

Governor Cox has four children, two boys and two girls.

Originated Hyphen Terms.

It is claimed that the term "hyphenated Americans" dates back prior to the year 1876 when John Boyle O'Reilly applied it to a remnant of the old-time torylsm who were objecting to the nation-wide celebration which took place that year.

In Preferred Position.

Jud Tunkins says one reason why his life is a comparatively happy one is that he can quit work and go to the movies without bothering to write a letter of resignation.

Keep the egg-yield up as mercury goes down

Hens that pay are hens that lay winter and summer. Poultry raisers estimate that an egg in winter is worth double its value in the spring. You can get maximum winter results from your hens by feeding

Purina Chicken Chowder with Purina Scratch Feed

—the perfect balance for laying hens. Hens fed grain alone make excess yolks, which cannot be laid. Notice the unlaid yolks in the next fat hen you dress. Corn, oats, barley, wheat, etc., are yolk-forming and fattening feeds, and should be balanced with high protein ingredients to produce as many whites as yolks. Purina Chicken Chowder contains such white-forming ingredients as granulated meat, linseed meal, alfalfa flour, etc., that balance the grains in Purina Scratch Feed. COX WINS

DEMOCRATS ALSO CHOOSE OHIO MAN FOR PRESIDENT

CONVENTION ADJOURNS TILL NOON

SAN FRANCISCO July 7, 1:52 a. m. (1:52 a. m. eastern time) —Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was nominated on the 44th ballot as the Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

Cox was nominated on the 11th ballot by acclamation with the roll call complete except one state. When the question was put a chorus of "ayes" that almost raised the roof arose from the delegates.

The clerk was about to call the roll of Missouri, at whose hands a nomination would have been made, when Samuel Amiden of Kansas, a McAdoo leader, jumped to the stage and moved a suspension of the rules and a nomination by acclamation. Immediately bedlam broke loose and a wild war dance of relief was executed to the discordant notes of two blaring bands.

The convention adjourned until 3 p. m. (our time) today when it will select a running mate for Governor Cox.

After the twenty-eighth ballot Delegate Anderson of Georgia moved that the low candidate be dropped on each ballot and by a process of elimination select a nominee. Chairman Robinson ruled the motion out of order.

The Indiana delegation caucused before the twenty-ninth ballot and announced that on the next ballot it would swing to McAdoo. Tom Taggert made the announcement. Georgia then announced it would follow Indiana' lead. Thus, the first break in the Cox alignment looked like the beginning of a McAdoo landslide.

Thomas J. Spellacy of Connecticut, won a $500 bet from Cox's manager on a wager that Cox would not win within a half hour this afternoon. The bet was $500 to $100. Spellacy immediately turned the money over to Chairman Robinson as a contribution to the national campaign fund.

After the 30th ballot the chair recogized another delegate who moved for a suspension of the rules and offered a resolution similar to the Anderson resolution. The motion was lost.

Georgia got cold feet on their promise to Indiana and on the 31st ballot failed to swing to McAdoo. After a caucus they decided to stick to Palmer.

Palmer surged rapidly to the fore until the 36th ballot on which Tennessee gave him their delegation. A recess was then taken until 3 o'clock, western time after which it was generally believed an agreement could be reached. Tennessee, however, repented and described Mr. Palmer on the 37th sending the hopes of the Pennsylvanian glimmering.

After the 38th ballot A. Mitchell Palmer released his delegates and the convention took a twenty minute recess. At 12:45 o'clock, C. C. Carlin the Palmer manager, stepped to the rostrum and made the announcement for Palmer. The Pennsylvania and Georgia delegations were the centers of interest. Crowds swarmed to both sections and McAdoo and Cox managers got busy with the released delegates. Palmer, thru Carlin expressed his gratitude to his loyal supporters and said he was unwilling to delay longer the selection of a nominee. He said he felt that those who were pledged to him should have an opportunity to vote for the winner and that all were unconditional ly released.

The 39th ballot upset all the dope. It was expected that the most of the Palmer vote would immediately switch to McAdoo but Cox gained 85 to McAdoo's 35, although Pennsylvania continued to stick to Palmer. Another feature of this ballot was an increase of 21½ in the Davis vote. Davis again loomed as a dark horse.

On the 40th ballot Cox again led McAdoo by 23 while Davis again gained. Pennsylvania voted Cox 12, McAdoo 42, Palmer 18 and Davis 3. Davis drew his strength as follows: Ill., 11; Ky., 11; N. H., 1; Pa., 3; R. I., 1; Tenn., 24, and W. Va., 16.

Georgia broke for Cox on the 42nd ballot. It was the big-

JAMES M. COX

Not unlike many another boy who attained prominence in later life James McCallen Cox, Governor of Ohio, was born on a farm near Jacksonburg, O., March 31, 1870. He attended the district schools of the neighborhood became a printer's devil, printer, school teacher, newspaper reporter, private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager, editor and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three terms and governor of the state of Ohio for three terms.

In the eyes of his friends this record is an outstanding reason for his candidacy for president in the coming campaign and it is added by his friends from the Buckeye state that just not only the eminent of those of his own political faith—the Democratic party—but by many men of all other political faiths.

The early trend of Ohio toward progressive thought in government and the enlivening of activity along these lines brought to the front in congressional politics James M. Cox who espoused these principles from his first appearance in public life.

The same application which made Mr. Cox a successful business man by his own efforts and from which he derived a good sized fortune, made him a congressman, regarded as exceptionally efficient, and governor of a nominally Republican state.

He first became a candidate for governor as the leader of the progressive movement which demanded change in the state constitution.

As a proponent of these changes he took the field in behalf of the proposed amendments and was called by the Democratic party into its councils and made its candidate for governor. Successful in the following election he continued the work he had mapped out in his original campaign and obtained the passage and enactment of laws which placed the constitution in its new form in full effect.

However, before all of the changes in contemplation could be assimilated a political contest developed and in the turmoil of the following election Governor Cox was defeated for re-election.

Undismayed by this sudden shock to his political ambitions the former governor braved the storm and again became a candidate in the next gubernatorial race. In this election he was successful and served the state as its leader in the numerous activities during the war.

Again in the face of a political re-

C. C. A. A. Wins First And Loses Second

DU BOIS TEAM HEAVY SLUGGERS

The C. C. A. A. ball club landed another game yesterday morning when they downed the crack DuBois Athletics in the first game of a double-header by the close score of 6 to 5. The game was played in the presence of some eight hundred fans and furnished excitement enough to satisfy everybody. A little bit of every old kind of baseball was sandwiched into the nine innings. There were lots of star plays and some that made the fans see stars. These slips were about evenly divided but as the home team won all is forgiven on our side.

"Skum" Anderson pitched for the visitors and the locals interpreted his benders for a total of thirteen healthy swats, although two of the hits were declined to be flukey. Skum also gave two bases on balls and succeeded in farming but four men.

Hughey Conklin, Clearfield's main standby in the box, for more years than he cares to have us tell about, twirled for Clearfield and pitched unbeatable ball. Had his team mates played their usual game behind him, the visitors would never have put a single runner over the pan. Hughey pitched a much better game than the score shows and certainly deserved to win. He held the heavy hitting visitors to four hits and fanned four men.

McNichol again starred at second, while old reliable McDonald, the best catcher to show on the local field this season, again led the team with the stick, he garnering three healthy bingles. Bowes also laced out three singles.

Billy Fauver came across with the lucky bingle which scored the first two runs of the game and later added a second hit to his total.

Alexander made the feature play of the game in the ninth when, with the tying run nearing the plate, he ran across into left centre and pulled down a near home run and doubled a runner at first for the third out, ending the game.

CLEARFIELDERS IN QUAKE ZONE

We are in receipt of a Los Angeles newspaper containing an account of the recent earthquake which shook up Los Angeles and the surrounding country. The paper was sent by Fred J. Barrett, a former Clearfielder, who is now located at Inglewood, a suburb of Los Angeles. It was Mr. and Mrs. Barrett's first experience with a California earthquake and they said they wished themselves back hom in rock-ribbed old Pennsylvania while the shake was going on.

The Afternoon Game

Our baseball warrieors either cannot stand prosperity or they are too tender hearted to take both games from a visiting team on the same day. At least they failed to cop this afternoon's game by a pronounced majority and while we don't begrudge this one game to DuBois, because "Skum" Anderson deserved to win, but the way our own kicked and tossed the ball around before the biggest crowd of the season would make the tamest of wild cats wild. Hence our yeowl.

Our old friend Skum is some pitcher and it makes him awful mad to beat him in the first game of a double header, especially when we're celebrating the Fourth of July. After viewing the morning's game from every angle "Skum" said he could beat that gang in the afternoon and he did. He pitched airtight ball after the second inning. He let our erstwhile sluggers down with ten singles but scattered them through the nine innings with a very cunning hand. His team mates gave him giltedge support with the exception of a couple of foozles at short, neither of which figured in the run making.

Bowes was thepitching selection for Clearfield. It was his first game and he was very wild. In addition thereto the boys from the third rate city had their bats working and garnered ten solid hits, two of which were doubles. In addition to several grievous errors of omission our pets fell down no less than six different times, generally on the easiest kind of chances.

Alexander was the lone star for Clearfield, while Fauver handled some hard ones at the third corner, even tho one did refuse to halt at his command. "Alex" and Bowes each got two of our six hits.

Of course you can't expect to win them all, and DuBois deserved to win.

BRYAN'S VIEW OF PLATFORM

It was not to be supposed that the Democratic platform would please everybody. Most assuredly it would not be expected to be taken by the Republicans as the hope of the nation. But it was to be supposed that it would create more favorable comment among Democrats.

William Jennings Bryan stands out as a master creator of public opinion. His judgment is not infallible but as a rule the people in general come around to his views in the end. To Bryan the platform is evasive and he goes to some length to show its weakness. He says:

"The platform adopted by the Democratic convention now before the country is the most partial subject for discussion. It is well written, covers many subjects and is, except on a few troubly controverted points quite as good as could be expected.

The writing of a platform is not an easy task. Straightforward statements for the part are always difficult to make on subjects that divide those within the party. The only easy thing to write is denunciation of the opposition.

We have heard a great deal of the crusaders and the very name fires the heart and quickens the pulse. If those who control this convention are to be taken as the leaders of the party Democrats will not be considered crusaders in this campaign, they are more likely to be branded as evaders. It may be worth while to note a few illustrations of the spirit of evasion that manifested itself.

First, the platform evades the liquor question. One hundred and fifty five and one-half votes were cast for my resolution declaring positively in favor of the amendment and the enforcement law and opposing any increase in the alcoholic content or other weakening of the law. There were 348 votes for Mr. Cochran's amendment in favor of light wines and beer. If the dry votes are added to the wet and then the total subtracted from the total vote cast and against the wet plank (the total vote on the wet proposition was 1082½, whereas the vote cast on the dry proposition was only 1064) we find that 541 delegates voted against both planks.

'Evaders' in Majority

That is the evaders outnumbered those who voted either for the dry plank or wet plank. No matter what the reason was most of the delegates to the convention refused to commit the party to either side of the liquor question.

A few of the evaders have been wet but nearly all of them were from dry fear. It is easy to understand why the wet would vote against the dry plank. But the average man and woman will have difficulty in understanding the attitude of those who allow themselves to be classed as opponents of prohibition were allowed to express an opinion on the Democratic party leading part in the business of national prohibition. In 1868 1872 and 1876 the Democratic party went into its platform a plank declaring its acceptance of the fifteenth amendment. It took three campaigns to assure the country that slavery was dead and that the Democratic party was opposed to reviving it, and yet there is not a state in the Union urging a reopening of the question. We nominated a New York Democrat to run in each of the years mentioned. This year we have 356 delegates—almost one-third of the convention—clamoring for a reopening of the question and yet the evaders try to excuse themselves by saying that the question is dead, and even denounce the drys for wanting to mention the subject in the platform.

The convention evaded the profiteering question also. As there was no roll call on my profiteering plank I have no way of knowing the exact number of evaders on this subject. As the readers of these articles have before them both the platform plank and my plank on this subject, they can if they like, make comparison. To make the comparison more intelligently it will be well to first compare the Democratic plank on profiteering with the Republican plank. While not identical, the same tone runs thru both. There is no attempt to indict the profiteers in terms that fit this crime. My plank points out specific remedies so that officials elected on such a platform would be bound to something specific.

No Specific Profiteering Curb

The men in control made no effort to take a single specific remedy mentioned in my plank, and add it to theirs. They had full charge of the subcommittee and the full committee and they had a large majority of the full convention and they used it to force thru a plank on profiteering which will not be satisfactory to the general public, because it offers no real hope of relief.

The evaders also dodged the question of universal compulsory military training. They contended that it was not an issue but the real reason, frankly stated in the committee, was by the secretary of war had recommended a system of universal compulsory military training. A plank opposing such a system might seem like a rebuke to the president after the president asked the Democrats in the house of representatives to leave the subject for the national convention to deal with.

It will be remembered that the president on the subject. Notwithstanding the fact that the nation owed more to the president ask

Last Big Block of the Canadian Pacific
Reserved Farm Lands

THIS announces the offering of the last big block of the Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands. Until this block is disposed of, you can secure at low cost a farm home in Western Canada that will make you rich and independent. The country is ideal for mixed farming as well as grain growing. Later, the same lands can be bought only from private owners—and naturally, prices will be higher. Never again on the North American Continent will farm lands be offered at prices so low.

Your Last Big Opportunity
This block contains both fertile open prairie and park lands in the Lloydminster and Battleford Districts of Central Alberta and Saskatchewan. You can buy farm lands on the rich prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at prices averaging about $18 an acre. Or land in Southern Alberta under an irrigation system of unfailing water from $50 an acre and up.

20 Years to Earn and to Pay
The Canadian Pacific offers you this land under a plan of long term, easy payments that is remarkable in the history of farm investments. You pay down 10%. Then you have no payment on the principal until the end of the fourth year, then fifteen annual payments. Interest is 6%. In Central Saskatchewan, Seager Wheeler grew the world's prize wheat. World's prize oats were grown at Lloydminster.

Lands Under Irrigation
In Southern Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway has developed the largest individual irrigation undertaking on the American Continent. This district contains some of the best lands in Canada. An unfailing supply of water is administered under the Canadian Government. Prices range from $20 an acre up, on the same easy payment terms. $2000 loan in improvements. 4 twenty years to pay back.

No Taxes on Improvements
There's a small tax on the land—seldom more than 20c an acre for all purposes but there are no taxes on your live stock, buildings, improvements, implements or personal effects. Good markets, modern schools, roads, churches, amusements, make farm life desirable and attractive. Here you can achieve independence.

No Sale Without Investigation
The Canadian Pacific will not sell you a farm until you have inspected it. You must be satisfied—and every question answered before taking up your home. Investigation is invited and made easy. This announcement calls attention to the last great block of Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands.

Special Rates for Homeseekers and Full Information

versal of opinion which sent a tidal wave across the state, Governor Cox was elected for a third term by an overwhelming majority when every candidate on the Democratic ticket was defeated. In this connection it may also be further stated that no other governor has served three terms in the state of Ohio save Rutherford B. Hayes who left his third term as governor to become President of the United States. During the turmoil preceding the war when industrial unrest was so prevalent in states where large manufacturing interests were centered, Governor Cox displayed his ability as a leader of his constituency in meeting the situation. This same leadership was carried on during the period of the war and has since come through the reconstruction, with all its attendant disorders, with domestic peace and without at any time resorting to force.

James Middleton Cox started his active career as a school teacher in District No. 1 in Wayne Township, Butler County where he had earlier attended school. His evenings were spent in the printing offices of the local publications and a few years later he was accepted as a reporter on the staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer. The next ten years were devoted to active newspaper work in almost every capacity of that newspaper.

He is next heard of as private secretary to Congressman Paul Sorg of the Third Ohio district and at the close of his service in Washington he purchased the Dayton, Ohio, Daily News, borrowing most of the money with which to carry on the business of the paper which at the time had a very small circulation.

Mr. Cox put all his energies into making the publication a successful business venture and so well did he carry out his plans that he was soon owner also of the Springfield Daily News which today stands as one of the newspaper successes of the country.

In 1908 he was nominated and elected to congress from the Third Ohio district and was re-elected for a second and third term.

In public life, Governor Cox was always regarded as a progressive and many of the laws now on the statute books of his home state which bear his progressive friend were sponsored by him both as congressman and governor.

Among these laws for which the governor assumes responsibility are: A model workman's compensation act; a child labor law that has been copied by several other states; a mother's pension system; the initiative and referendum; a scientific budget; a prison farm providing healthy occupation for convicts; elimination of sweatshops; a Blue Sky law to protect Ohio investors; consolidation of useless bureaus; time limit on storage of food products and to check profiteering; extension of the good roads system by main market and inter-county roads.

School men in Ohio are quoted as saying that the Ohio school code of today will live as an everlasting monument to the achievements of Governor Cox.

Governor Cox recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born and is transforming it into a modern farm where he expects to spend his later days. He has a comfortable, modern suburban home at Dayton which he designed and where he resides when not in the state capitol attending to his official duties.

Governor Cox has four children, two boys and two girls.

Originated Hyphen Terms.

It is claimed that the term "hyphenated Americans" dates back prior to the year 1876 when John Boyle O'Reilly applied it to a remnant of the old-time torvism who were objecting to the nation-wide celebration which took place that year.

In Preferred Position.

Jud Tunkins says one reason why his life is a comparatively happy one is that he can quit work and go to the movies without bothering to write a letter of resignation.

Keep the egg-yield up as mercury goes down

Hens that pay are hens that lay winter and summer. Poultry raisers estimate that an egg in winter is worth double its value in the spring. You can get maximum winter results from your hens by feeding

Purina Chicken Chowder with Purina Scratch Feed

—the perfect balance for laying hens. Hens fed grain alone make excess yolks, which cannot be laid. Notice the unlaid yolks in the next fat hen you dress. Corn, oats, barley, wheat, etc., are yolk-forming and fattening feeds, and should be balanced with high protein ingredients to produce as many whites as yolks. Purina Chicken Chowder contains such white-forming ingredients as granulated meat, linseed meal, alfalfa flour, etc., that balance the grains in Purina Scratch Feed. When Purina Chicken Chowder is fed as directed with Purina Scratch Feed, we guarantee

More Eggs or Money Back.

LAXATIVE for Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Music of the Shepherds.

In the stillness of the night, what more beautiful or soul-elevating than the mournful music of a flute? It was this instrument which the shepherds of Bethlehem were playing that memorable night, when the angels interrupted to announce to them the birth of the Savior.

The Black Cap.

The black-cap, one of the songsters of England, sings a sweet, full, clear but short strain, and express es a great variety of notes surpassed only by the nightingale. Black-caps are most frequently found in orchards and gardens.

The C C A A team could use a good outfielder who can tick We understand that such a player is already on the string and may be here for Thursday's game

It might be a good plan for the management to get a line on another catcher who can play the outfield There is no question about McDonald's ability but he is liable to get hurt and a second receiver would then be most necessary piece of furniture Of course we don't expect to charge for this advice

There was a pretty fair sized crowd out to the game Monday afternoon, but about half the number were from out of town The local fans don't come out as strong as they should The team has won five out of seven and that is a record that should bring the boys the most loyal support

Ike Robinson umpired both games of Monday's double header and got away with the job in fine style His judgment on balls and strikes was fine and decisions on the bases above question, altho DuBois kicked on one decision at the plate in the second game

The Irvona American Legion team's manager writes The Progress to say that the score of the game at Clearfield on June 30th in which Irvona was the winner was 6 to 0 instead of 6 to 1 as we gave it We stand corrected and "pass the buck" to "Alkali Ike" the score card man, who gave it to us that way
